Don't worry if you don't follow all the math, but try to get a general idea of the research question, the data set, and how the information is visualized.

2 Questions

Then, in pairs, spend fifteen minutes answering the following questions about the article:

- What question is the author asking?

- What data does the author use to answer this question?

- How does the author analyze the data to answer his question?

- What challenges did he face in terms of data or analysis?

- How does the author present his findings to the audience?

- Did you find his presentation method effective? Why or why not?

- Do you agree with the author's conclusions? Why or why not?
